Prices Need Scarcity for Support

While housewives are complaining about the high price of vegetables, farmers in Ontario are suffering from falling prices in the worst market in the farming community's history. These cabbages were sold, wholesale for 4½ cents. At prices like that, farmers say they cannot continue. Overabundance of garden crops elsewhere, they say, has ruined their usual market outlets.

Fire Cause Unknown In Grassland Blaze

GRASSLAND. — Exactly one year after the destruction of the hall, fire once again struck this community at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening. Flames were seen issuing from the rear of the Grassland Garage and half an hour later the whole structure was a smoldering ruin. The exact cause of the fire has not been determined.

Two trucks belonging to Nick Derko and a tractor owned by Nick Nypiuk were saved, mainly be the efforts of Johnnie Mayorchuk, Nick Derko and Don McKenzie. All equipment and stock in the garage was lost, together with the power plant and the town is at present without light and power.

After futile efforts to fight the fire in the garage, efforts of the fire-fighters were turned to saving the contents of the Ilnicki home, next door. In this they were successful, although the house itself fell a prey to the flames. Volunteers succeeded in keeping the flames fro mother nearby houses. flames from other nearby houses. ed by insurance.

Mrs. Vince McKenzie last week visited her old home at Plamondon Bay, where she was feted by her numerous friends and relations.

Tremendous Development Seen For Alberta Resources In 1950's

By RAYMOND ARGYLE

Development of Alberta's mineral resources will move ahead in the next decade at an unparalleled rate, according to top geologists and engineers who gathered in Banff last week for the regional meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

Some 1,000 oil and mining geologists, meeting in the famed resort town, discussed major developments of the past few years, and cast an optimistic eye to the future in viewing Alberta's industrial development for tomorrow.

Meanwhile, came the announcement that a vast unanimous search in the northern wilds of the Foothills Province is being launched by Eldorado Mining Company. Latest project spotlights attention on the vital atom bomb mineral, whose present sources are the pitchblende mines along Great Bear Lake, mines in the Belgian Congo, and various deposits in Colorado.

Within the next year Eldorado will spend $700,000 on a new uranium search along the north shore of Lake Athabasca, some 450 miles northwest of Edmonton.

According to an announcement from W. J. Bennett, president of the company, Eldorado has already spent $2,500,000 on similar projects in the area, and while refraining from predictions as to whether uranium will be obtained in commercial quantities, he said that the present program is being undertaken following favorable results of initial underground exploration started late in 1949.

The area is the scene of intense uranium prospecting activity, with two major developments underway.

A total of about 125 men will be employed on the crown company's development.

Gathering of the Petroleum Geologists in Banff, first regional meeting of the association ever to be held in Canada, featured a review of oil development in the province over the years.

Visitors heard something of oil and gas development in western Canada from G. S. Hume, noted Canadian authority on oil and gas.

First big boom took place at Pincher Creek in 1891, Dr. Hume said. Second was in Medicine Hat with the discovery of gas in 1901. The third was in Turner Valley in 1914, again in 1924 and in 1936 with the discovery of crude oil.

Leduc touched off the present feverish development, which later brought in an entirely new field at Redwater, which has become Canada's greatest.

Alberta's total natural gas reserves are estimated at seven trillion feet, more than enough to allow export of gas while assuring native Albertans of a sufficient supply.

Only bleak spot on Alberta's natural resources horizon seems to be the failing coal mines of the Foothills province, as the traditional black fuel is now giving way to oil, gas, and electricity for industrial, commercial, and home purposes.

Symbolic of the fast growth of the electrical power industry is the vast new power project being opened this month by Calgary Power Ltd. in the Spray Lakes country east of Banff.

With the new light of a bright industrial dawn creeping across the plains, Albertans are looking to a better and more prosperous future, harnessing the works of nature to do the work of man.

OIL PIPELINE PROGRESSING

Still maintaining their schedule, Interprovincial Pipeline crews have ditched and welded 933 miles of the 1,190-mile oil pipeline link to the east, according to late reports.

Latest figures released show 933 miles ditched with the same number of pipe miles welded. A total of 911 miles have been wrapped and 878 backfilled.

In the western division, Edmonton to Regina, 410 miles have been ditched and it is expected to have this section ditched out within a week, according to officials.

Central division crews, Regina to Gretna, Man., have ditched 316 miles, welded 313, wrapped 308 and backfilled 298 miles.

In the Gretna to Superior, Wis., section 207 miles have been ditched and 200 miles backfilled.

Western section of the line will be completed sometime next month.

New Postage Stamp Will Depict Indians, Furs

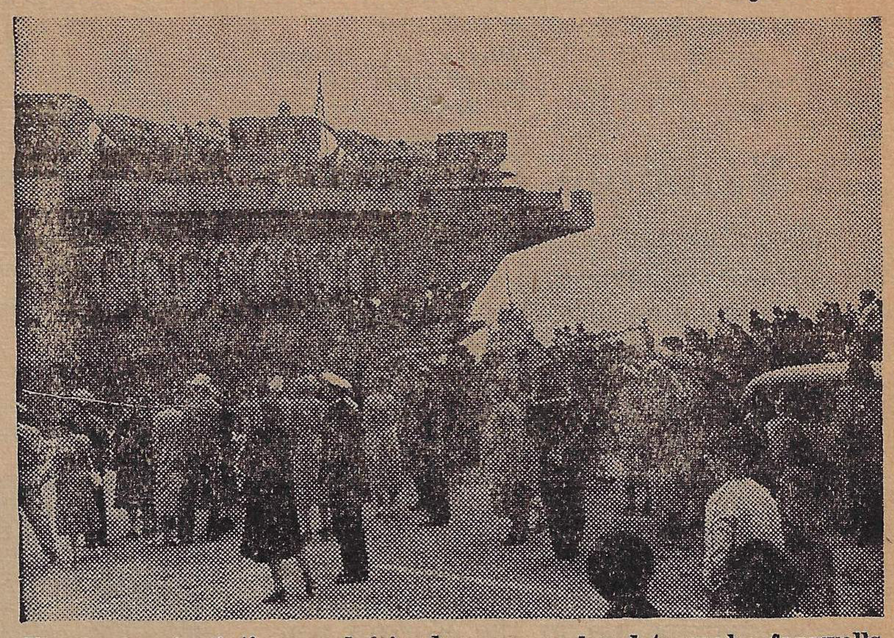

A newly designed ten-cent Canadian postage stamp will be placed on sale in Alberta, Oct. 2.

The stamp, publicizing Canada's fur resources, shows an Indian woman hanging up beaver skins to dry, and in the background appears a wigwam,

New issue, brown in color, will replace current ten-cent stamp which depicts a lake scene in the North West Territories.

From the end of World War II to January 1, 1950, immigrants to Canada totalled 362,431; in the single year of 1913 we gained 400,870 immigrants.

Albertans Aboard Atlantic Destroyers

Hundreds of relatives and friends were on hand to make farewells to nearly 1,400 Royal Canadian Navy personnel, many of them Albertans, who left Halifax in the aircraft carrier Magnificent and the destroyers Huron and Micmac on a history-making cruise that will take them into almost a dozen European ports in the next two months.

Recent Wedding Unites Newspaperman, Bride

Wedding of interest held recently at South Edmonton's Metropolitan United Church was that of Marie Margaret Holowack and Raymond Argyle, who were married in a late-afternoon double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Gerald Rogers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Holowack of Edmonton, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Argyle of Creston, B.C.

For her marriage the bride chose a wedding gown of traditional white satin, with a full train. The gown was fashioned with a full length veil, and the crown was embedded with rhinestones and seeded beads.

She carried a bouquet of red roses and white sweet peas, and her only jewelry was a gold locket, gift of the groom.

Maid-of-honor was Rose Yez, and bridesmaids were Miss Pearl Hunchak and Miss Lovette Pysmany.

They wore identical gowns of pink nylon, with matching picture hats. They carried colonial bouquets of mixed flowers.

Little Betty and Shirley Wasylinchuk, twins, were flower girls, and wore blue nylon gowns, and carried sweetheart bouquets of roses and carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Holowack chose a navy dress with white accessories, and a corsage of white gardenias.

Best man was Brud Delany. Ushers were Howard Large and Wally Holowack, brother of the bride.

Reception for about 300 guests was held at the Ukrainian Hall.

Toast to the bride was proposed by T. W. Pue and responded to by the groom. J. Pryma proposed a toast in Ukrainian.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered cake, topped with orange blossoms. Other decorations consisted of gladioli and mixed flowers.

The couple will make their home in South Edmonton, where the groom is news editor of Community Publications.

A Sensible Budget

Finance Minister Abbott's budget, on the whole, makes the increased tax burden easy to bear. So easy, in fact, that the opposition in the House of Commons, complains it isn't tough enough. Personal income taxes have not been increased, and neither have taxes on essential items such as clothing and foods.

Luxury goods and automobiles (but not trucks, tractors and farm implements) have had taxes increased from 10 to 15 per cent.

Not only will this new "baby" budget bring in the extra revenue needed to finance Canada's participation in the Korean war, but it will assist in holding down inflationary tendencies.

We aren't satisfied with the limited government action in this regard. Little is being done to alleviate the economic strain on low-income groups which suffer due to the high cost-of-living index. There should be some system of control on commodity prices, and if this is a provincial matter then the Alberta government should step in with limited Price Control legislation.

General War In '50?

While there is no time-table, the military experts consider August the month in which to start wars. September will do, but it is not considered as good a time for starting a fight as the previous month. After September, the weather is apt to be bad and prove discouraging to certain manoeuvers.

The experts, with these dates in mind, report no signs of mobilization in Russia or in the satellite states. Consequently, they lean to the opinion that a general war is not coming in 1950. Whether it comes next year or not, they do not know but those on the Allied side, at least, think that Stalin missed his big chance this year.

As a result of the Korean campaign, our government is preparing for millions more dollars of defense expense, and formation of a special U.N. Defence force has already started. The stunning surprise of military reverses to United Nations forces in Korea has awakened Canadians to the solemn fact we are weak and defenceless in the face of any possible invasion from the northwest

But we still have time, if no general war happens this year or next, to successfully resist aggression. It might be noted that Mr. Winston Churchill, a gentleman who has had some experience with war, thinks that the atomic bomb, possessed by the United States, is the real deterrent to Russian aggression. Until the Soviet gets a considerable supply, the British war leader thinks the democracies will have time to prepare themselves, if they act wisely and in unison.

War and Economics

Business is no longer "as usual," comments the Bank of Montreal, analyzing in its latest Business Review the economic implications for Canada of the Korean war. The B of M concludes that, with the country already close to top productive capacity, economic mobilization, although partial and gradual, will bring many new problems.

Stressing the free world's "sharpened realization of the urgent need to expedite and expand military preparedness generally," the bank then reviews the "disclosed facts" of Canada's actions in the Korean theatre, in army recruiting, and in re-armament.

Probably of greater significance than the domestic defence program, however, will be the demands on Canada's productive resources arising out of this country's international commitments and its position in the larger economy of North America and the world. Under the North Atlantic Treaty, Canada may undertake to furnish military aid to Europe. In any case, it is contemplated that part of the funds appropriated by the United States for that purpose will be spent in this country.

In addition, some of the U.S. government's own defence requirements will be procured in Canada under a reciprocal purchasing agreement that went into effect at the beginning of July.

Summertime In Alberta

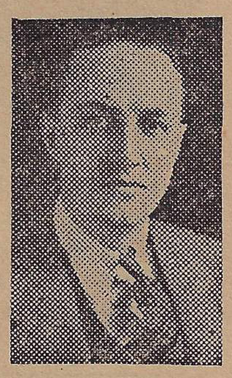

By T. W. PUE

When school begins another year of studies, and the swimming pools in Edmonton close, then summer is over.

And all we have left is memories.

You have yours—and I have mine. Do you mind if I share some of my 1950 summer memories with you?

Pigeon Lake

T. W Pue

Our daughters, Dian and Betty Mae, aged 10 and 9 respectively, went to Manitoba in July and spent two weeks in August at Pioneer Camp on Pigeon Lake, directly west of Wetaskiwin. We made two week-end trips there while the children were at camp. We remember the newly hard-surfaced road which makes this lovely lake really accessible.

Parkland's Alberta

Mrs. Pue and I spent a delightful week-end at the Southern Alberta ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Armstrong. We were impressed, on this trip, that although Southern Alberta is truly prairie—Alberta as a whole is only a very small part prairie. To the Southern Alberta inhabitant, the prairie seems to be unending, and early pioneers who chose the lush, green acres, free of brush can be excused for thinking Alberta was a prairie province.

Lac la Biche

For sheer delight in a summer week-end, Lac la Biche, the town, the lake, nearby Beaver Lake and the unspoiled and unsettled thousands of square miles north of town is my favorite. Although only 100 air miles from Edmonton it is 160 miles by road. A new highway, more direct, is being built to connect Lac la Biche with the St. Paul highway from Boyle to Radway. Now, if the provincial government will only make the highway fit to travel on, I believe Lac la Biche can soon become Alberta's Muskoka.

We went fishing with Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Gregory, who operate the L & M Service at Lac la Biche. Lynn bought an old government boat that had been declared unfit for further service, re-fitted it, installed an inboard motor and launched the craft at Beaver Lake.

Beaver Lake is three miles distant from Lac la Biche. We caught 25 fish in two hours' trolling and have been languidly regretting our inability to spend another week-end with the Gregory's.

The Munson Ferry

In July I met an old Czar friend—Jim Hobbs, at Morrin, Alta., and also Mr. and Mrs. Fobert who used to be at Czar. They are assisting Jim in operation of the hotel there, in the geographical centre of Starland M.D.

I established the Starland Reporter, and could truthfully say that we now have a newspaper with some "merit". The merit being, in this case slightly mis-spelled—Mrs. Cecilia Merritt who does an excellent job reporting for the district of Morrin.

On the way from Red Deer to Morrin I used a road map, now outdated, which showed the highway to Drumheller going through Morrin. I now know that the highway to Drumheller goes nowhere near Morrin, and in getting back in the right direction I used the ferry at Munson.

There are some mighty interesting spots in that part of the country, and the picturesque ferry site is one of them. It helped me to get to Morrin, fortunately not too late for a meeting with the municipal council.

* * * *

Well, this isn't a very exciting story, perhaps —all I've done is list a few of the places I've visited this summer.

I wish I could tell you more—about the beaver dam near Bellis — the $1,000 farm at Bilby worth $50,000 if broken up into lake-front lots — and scores of other things that come back to memory.

But for more—we'll have to wait until summertime, 1951,

Comment from Press

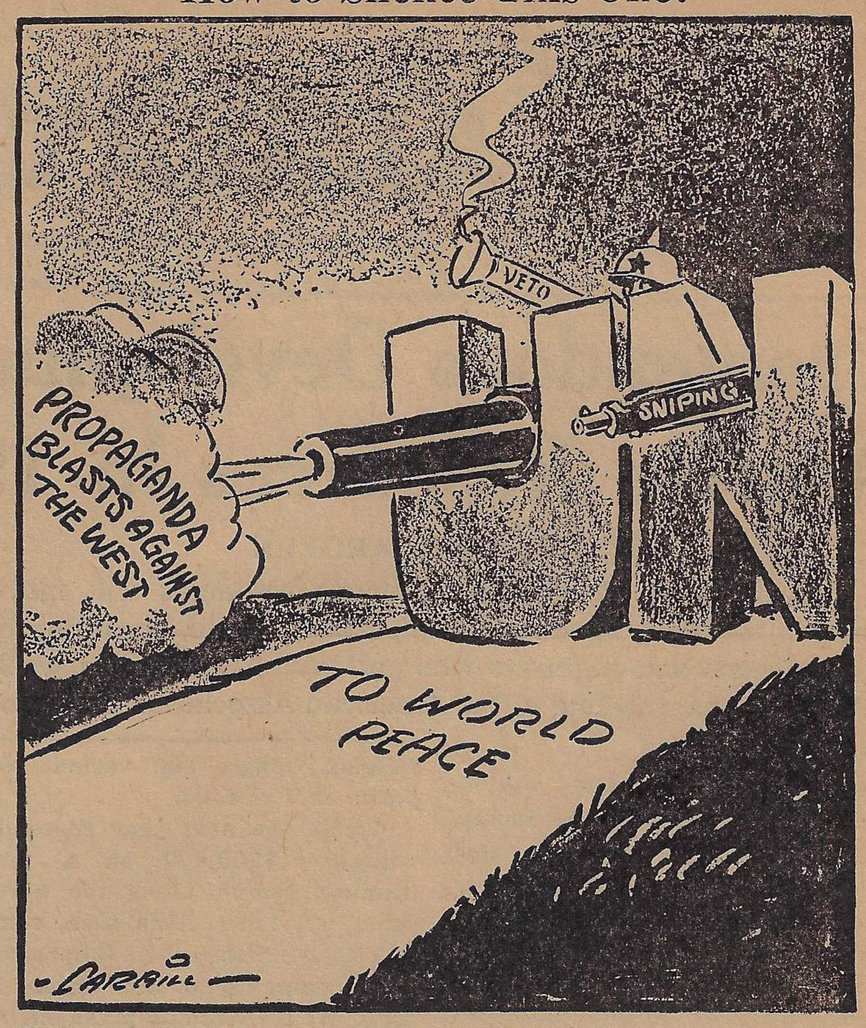

(From Calgary Albertan)

Nothing sums up the measures taken to end the railway strike better than a brief bit of repartee on the floor of the House of Commons. Prime Minister St. Laurent was piloting his bill ordering the men back to work, and agreed to an amendment which put a floor under what the government arbitrator could give the union.

Mr. Drew, leader of the Opposition, said the amendment was an attempt to make the clause "a little less unpalatable."

The prime minister's immediate reply is one that deserves to be long remembered: "The whole bill is unpalatable."

How to Silence This One?

With Russia using the United Nations merely as a sounding board to blast the western democracies, the big question is how to silence Soviet propaganda without pushing Russia into an attack.

Railway Horror

Dear Sir—Our railroaders are to be congratulated not only on the fine way in which they went back to work at the end of the strike, but also because they are a big improvement over some U.S. lines.

Last time I was in New York I took a ride to Rockaway, largely to find out if the Long Island Rail Road is as bad as they say it is. It's worse!

The trainmen just snarled at us passengers, refusing to give us directions.

The engineer flew past some stations and had to back up for a quarter of a mile, and at other stations the trainmen forgot to open the doors so passengers could get on.

When I asked which was my train the trainman I addressed was too tired to talk or move his arm, but he did manage to point at my train with his foot.

That thing's no railroad it's a nightmare-

Political Front

Dear Sir—What this country needs most is a law which says that when any politician gets us into a war, whether his name is St. Laurent, Drew, Low or Coldwell, they go right to the front. Even if they have to be pushed in wheel chairs. And their entire cabinets, senates and house of commons too. Representation from every province. What a pleasure!

Woman Hater

Dear Sir—Trouble with the world today is women. Just as Eve caused sin and destruction in Eden so every Eve is a veritable source of trouble today. They take your time, your reputation and your money. Then as if that isn't enough they take your self-respect and leave you cold. I hate them all and the world would be better off without them.

Would By-Pass the Tail

Dear Sir — Some are against dropping the atom bomb on Korea. I suggest that our atomic stuff be dropped on the heart of Russia, meaning Joe and his scheming pals. You saw what happened in the last war, when Adolf and Benito were liquidated. The Germans and Italians just quit. It's a true saying: Eliminate the head and the tail won't wag.

Bible Appeal

Dear Sir—The stories behind statistics are often filled to the brim with life, while the statistics themselves may seem uninteresting and lifeless. To report that the Bible Societies of the world circulated 17,500,000 copies of the Scriptures last year has meaning only when we remember that these Societies are making the Revelation of God available to men: it takes the Spirit of God acting through the Word of God to make a child of God. We have seen this in the Pacific area where the influence of the Scriptures on the lives of the natives has been remarkable.

Many people in Alberta have responded to our appeal in previous years and have forwarded their contributions. Our annual campaign has now begun and once again we are calling attention to our work and our needs. Bible printing costs have increased by some 150 per cent in the post-war period. To carry on our work in the future we shall need more than double our former income. Any contribution by mail would be most welcome and gratefully acknowledged.

Sincerely,

E. J. HEVER,

British and Foreign Bible Society.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON:

Mark Was Witness To Crucifixion of Jesus

The first we hear of John Mark, the subject of our lesson, is in the gospel of Mark. In the 14th chapter we read, "And a certain young man followed with him."

That "certain young man" has been identified as John Mark. Evidently, he was an unsuspected witness to the terrible events of that night in the Garden at Gethsemane. Apparently, he had been at home, asleep in his bed, when the events in the Garden began. Aroused from sleep by the commotion, he went out in his bed-clothes, or with a sheet wrapped around him. His was plain curiosity for he was not overmuch interested in the Man of Galilee. However, something in the demeanor of Jesus must have impressed the young man, for he followed Jesus even after the disciples had fled.

A soldier, thinking him to be a disciple, grabbed at him. Mark slipped out of his scant clothing and fled to safety. Mark, who is the author of the gospel which alone tells of this occurrence, seems to have related the episode to show his first contact with the Christ.

We do not know much about Mark, his education or training, but we are told about his mother, Mary, It was in her home, it is thought, that the Last Supper was held and, after the crucifixion and resuccection of Jesus, her home was opened to the followers of Jesus as their headquarters. So, evidently, it was a large home and she a wealthy widow. Her son, John Mark, could not have remained disinterested with such happenings occurring in his own home.

As our lesson opens, Paul and Barnabas, the first Christian missionaries, who had come to Jerusalem from Antioch, bringing relief to the suffering believers in Jerusalem, were about to return to Antioch. Evidently impressed with the young John Mark, they persuaded him to accompany them. So, it was Paul, Barnabas and Mark, who took to the road on the first great missionary tour.

However, for some unknown reason, Mark did not remain with them long. He left Paul and Barnabas at Pamphylia and returned home. Some believe he was just homesick, wanting to visit his mother; others think he may have feared the opposition that met him in Pamphylia, while others think he may have become sick, for Paul suffered a severe attack of malaria on the tour. Whatever the reason, he left them, and there was trouble between Paul and Barnabas because of his desertion. When a second tour began, Barnabas wanted to call for Mark to accompany them but Paul would not consent — he wanted no more of young Mark and said so, plainly. The affair ended by Barnabas going one way, Paul another, and Mark remaining at home.

John Mark did not quit the cause, however. Later he went with Barnabas and did so well in his work that afterwards Paul, in prison at Rome, wrote Timothy to come to him and to bring John Mark with him, "for he is useful to me for ministering." While Mark may have wavered in his faith, he did finally prove himself and made good. He worked with Peter through storm and strife and persecution and there is no evidence whatever that he again quit the fight, He is said to have been Peter's secretary and to have written down (in the gospel of Mark) what Peter told him, and what he saw with his own eyes. He left his book for the generations yet to come — the first and shortest of the Gospels, used by Matthew and Luke when they wrote theirs.

The Gospel of Mark's value lies in the fact that it is filled with first-hand knowledge of the events in the life of Jesus. It isn't heresay, it is facts! Concise, natural, vigorous, it has as its keyword, "straightway," which occurs forty-two times in our Revised Version. Some consider it the most precious book in the library of Christian literature — and it was written by one, whom some thought to be a failure!

Someone has declared, and truly, that "success lies not so much in becoming famous in the eyes of men, as it does in doing well in the eyes of God. It lies in doing what we can for God, wherever we happen to be!" Clovis G. Chappell, in Faces About the Cross, says: "We are not all born heroes; we are not all born with ten talents, nor with a million dollars. But we all have something to contribute to God and man. And God loves those who do the best they can with a little, perhaps more than those who do little with much!"

Letter to Louisa

Problems Arise When Woman Marries Widower

Dear Louisa: I married a widower about a year ago. He had two children and I am very fond of both of them.

One child is very agreeable and easy to manage, while the other is quite a problem. He is an attractive child but if I correct him, he tells me that I am not his real mother and he doesn't have to mind anyone but his daddy.

I don't know exactly what to do because I want the child to love me, but this kind of situation is bad for him as well as for me.

What do you advise me to do?

STEPMOTHER.

Answer:

This is a situation that no one but your husband can handle. Anyone who takes care of a child is entitled to obedience, and it is your husband's duty to explain to his son that he must obey you while he is in your care.

There is nothing that will wreck discipline and happiness in a home quicker than for two parents to be divided in their ideas of bringing up a child and in letting him know it. He takes advantage of such a situation to get his own way and do as he pleases. He plays one parent against the other and ends up by causing discord in the family.

So, tell your husband to get on the job and straighten things out before they get beyond control.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I am engaged to a fine young man and he gets a vacation the last part of this month. He wants me to visit his parents but it will take several days to make the trip by car.

Do you think it will be all right for just the two of us to go or should we take someone else along?

GRETA.

Answer:

It will be wiser to take someone else along. If you could break it by staying with friends, it would be permissible for the two of you to go alone.

But, under the circumstances, where you will have to spend several nights in hotels along the way, I am afraid your reputation would suffer if the two of you go by yourselves.

LOUISA.

CFA Charges Monopoly In Non-Farm Products

"Those who talk the loudest about the advantages of competition in maintaining our free economic system are often the ones who conspire among themselves to insulate themselves against the rigors of free and open competition," protests the Canadian Federation of Agriculture in a brief presented to the special committee now studying the Combines Investigation Act and its operations in Canada.

The Federation submits a number of important recommendations. It expresses strong opposition to the practice adopted by many businesses and manufacturing concerns, of "resale price maintenance," which it declares should be made "illegal when resorted to by a single individual or corporation."

It further declares against any action by the government or parliament which would restrict in any way the publication of reports made from time to time by the Combines Investigation Commissioner.

Amendment of the Criminal Code is urged, to provide that "conditional sales" such as are practised with respect to flour and feed, be declared illegal.

The Federation brief points out that agriculture as an industry is more free than any other of restrictive practices. "There are practically no examples of where production is deliberately restricted by concerted and agreed action," the Federation sets forth.

The same cannot be said, however, the brief adds, for the bulk of non-agricultural goods produced and sold in Canada. Most of these, it is pointed out, are produced and sold under conditions of imperfect competition and semi-monopoly.

In conclusion the Federation, in this presentation made in behalf of the primary farm industry of Canada, declares:

"In these days, when our economic system, often called the free enterprise system, is under constant attack from those who would destroy it, the Parliament of Canada is under a serious responsibility to see that the principles and practices are enforced which make the system work to the best advantage of all the people of Canada and not just a few."

Farm Co-ops Said Fully Democratic

"Farm co-operatives offer a practical school in democracy second to none." This statement was made by the director of the American Rural Electrification Administration in an address to the American Institute of Co-operation held at Stillwell, Oklahoma.

Claude Wickard, former secretary of agriculture for the United States administration, said that farm co-ops are the means of preserving the family type of farm. He also stated that the co-operative form of business provides principles and ideas that make communities better and provide a stabilizing factor in business life.

Farm Club Members Visit Montana

Four members of Alberta Junior Farm clubs attended a 4-H conference in Bozesman, Montana, this week. They were Harold Schielke of Carstairs, Gerald Cole of Clive, Joan Lailey of Mirror and Yvonne Peterson of Ohaton. They were accompanied by Miss Ruth Murray, district economist of Wetaskiwin, and L. Usher from the provincial department of agriculture.

This "exchange" idea between Alberta Junior club members and members of the 4-H clubs in Montana has been going on for some time.

Alan Ladd Rates As Britain's Favorite Star

HOLLYWOOD (Special)—British cinema fans have selected Alan Ladd as the most popular American screen star.

His "Whispering Smith," "The Great Gatsby," and "Chicago Deadline" were all big grossers when played in Britain.

Jane Powell has finally gotten a chance to "grow up" in the films. When June Allyson got pregnant and Judy Garland got tempermental, Jane was offered the role with Fred Astaire in "Royal Wedidng." She plays Astaire's sister in the film—just 29 years younger than Astaire but, as usual, anything can happen in Hollywood.

Sitting Bull who has been a character in a number of pictures, will now have an entire film devoted to his life. D. D. Beauchamp, whose father was a friend of the Indian chief, will write the screen play, which will end with Sitting Bull's address to Congress, when he stood up against the whole white race in a plea for his people.

Gene Nelson the only male dancer on the Warner's lot, is as busy as a bee. As soon as he finishes his work in the "West Point Story," he will costar with June aver in "Just Off Broadway." When he finishes that chore, he'll do "Working Their Way Through College," with Doris Day and Gordon McCrae.

The film version of the biography of Enrico Caruso will be a rather sugar-coated affair, we hear. He will be shown on the screen with one woman only, his wife, with Janet Leigh playing the role, instead of the four ladies originally planned for him. These were to have been Ava Gardner, Kathryn Grayson and Teressa Celli. Mario Lanza is playing the title role.

Although Van Heflin made his mark on the stage as a comedian, he hasn't had a comedy since appearing in "Johnny Eager." The same goes for Dick Widmark, who was quite a comic before he became typed as a killer after doing 'Kiss of Death."

LAC LA BICHE Fetes Sea Cadets

LAC LA BICHE.— Board of trade of the village of Lac La Biche and the village residents turned out in goodly numbers recently to honor Rev. Fr. J. E. McGrane, skipper of the Lac La Biche sea cadet ship, the Exeter, and members of the ship.

The banquet was held in recognition of Father McGrane and four cadets on their successful trip down the North Saskatchewan River from Heinsburg, Alta., to Prince Albert, Sask.

A plaque was given the father and his cadets for their successful trip. Members of the Lac La Biche corps are: N. Zinco, Dan Langevin, Edward Langevin, Skipper McGrane, R. Lebeff, Lieut. J. Wolstenholm, Joseph Michetti, Victor Sorochon, Gerald Varze Ken Proctor, Emile Tisi, Harold Klein, Robert Wolstenholm, Jackie Wolstenholm, Carl Salby, H. Ingram and Jack Tremblay. Speakers at the banquet were J. Klein, president of the board of Trade; Dr. A. Brinsmead, of the Legion; Al Hall, Dr. Wililam Cadzow and J. A. Wililams.

PRINCE CHARLES, second in line for the British throne, seems somewhat bewildered in this photograph. He now has a playmate, a baby sister with whom to share the spotlight.

Hunting Accidents Can Be Avoided

At least 95 per cent of all hunting accidents each fall can be avoided if every hunter acquaints himself with the fundamentals of safe gun handling, say safety experts. These fundamentals are simple and help keep hunting a safe sport and make for better marksmanship.

There is no excuse for carelessness in gun handling, whether the weapon is loaded or not. The rule of gun safety is "treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun." Always remember—never point a gun at anything you do want to shoot. Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload first. Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.

Carry only empty guns—taken down or with the action open—into your automobile, camp or home. Whenever you pick up a gun, indoors or outdoors, always first point the mizzle in a safe direction and examine the piece carefully to make sure whether or not it is loaded.

Pointing a loaded gun towards a companion is dangerous. Do it just once and you have branded yourself a thoughtless novice or a careless, dangerous shooter with whom it is unsafe to go afield.

It is a compliment to be invited to go hunting with an experienced gunner. It means he believes you will observe all safety rules and practice good sportsmanship. Don't let him down by taking chances and you'll help make hunting a safer sport. It's just as easy to be careful as careless.

Mart Kenney Will Play In Edmonton

Mart Kenney and his Western Gentlemen will again play Edmonton this year.

They will appear at the Trocadero on Sept. 19 for a one night stand, manager Bob Lyon said yesterday.

Other name bands may also come to the dine and dance club during the season, he said, but they won't include American aggregations because of the currency exchange problem.

Beginning the final Wednesday in September and every Wednesday following, the Trocadero will present dinner dances, in innovation in Edmonton on a weekly scale.

Celebrity Variety Series Offers Fine Entertainment

Excellent entertainment is offered to Edmontonians this coming fall and winter through the Celebrity Variety Series, which opens here Oct. 6. Top-flight entertainers of the stage and radio will appear here during the October to April season.

A widely-known Canadian chorus, the Leslie Bell Singers of Toronto, will open on October 6. Besides the chorus of young women, the series will bring to the city two piano comedians, a rising young bass-baritone born and raised in Montreal, a noted American contralto, a minstrel singer and two famous American tenors.

The schedule for the 1950-51 series, presented by Celebrity Concerts (Canada) Ltd., under the direction of President A. K. Gee of Winnipeg, is as follows:

Leslie Bell Singers, Oct. 6; Alec Templeton, pianist and impersonator, Oct. 25; George London, bass-baritone, Jan. 5; Marian Anderson, contralto, Feb. 17; Jan Peerce, tenor, Feb. 27; Henry L. Scott, pianist and comedian, and Richard Dyer-Bennett, minstrel, March 3; James Melton, tenor, April 10.

The concerts will be presented in the sales pavilion at the exhibition grounds under the Edmonton management of Mrs. Ernest Meaden.

Alec Templeton, the blind British pianist and entertainer supreme, hardly needs an introduction to the many city music lovers who enjoyed his 1948 concert, and others are acquainted with his sterling artistry through recordings.

Bass-baritone George London possesses both an exceptional voice and notable gifts as an actor.

Queen Charlotte City where she visited her sister Miss Eleanor Cardiff who is matron in the United Church Mission hospital. Edith will be teaching in the Highlands Junior high school, Edmonton, this year.

Namao was declared the champion team at Namao Sunday when they split a double-header with Bon Accord. Bon Accord won the first game, Namao the second. Previously Namao had won one game at Bon Accord to cop the championship, two games to one.

New Gold Mine for Tobacco Growers

The discovery in 1919 that tobacco would grow in Ontario's Norfolk county, transformed a dying mixed-farming district into a thriving "gold mine." That "gold mine" is still producing and is more prosperous than ever, Growing 55 per cent of the total Canadian crop of flue-cured tobacco (the type you smoke in your favorite Canadian cigarette), Norfolk farmers earn over $25,000,000 each year from their 60,000,000 pounds of "golden weed."

Goose Bay Has New Commander

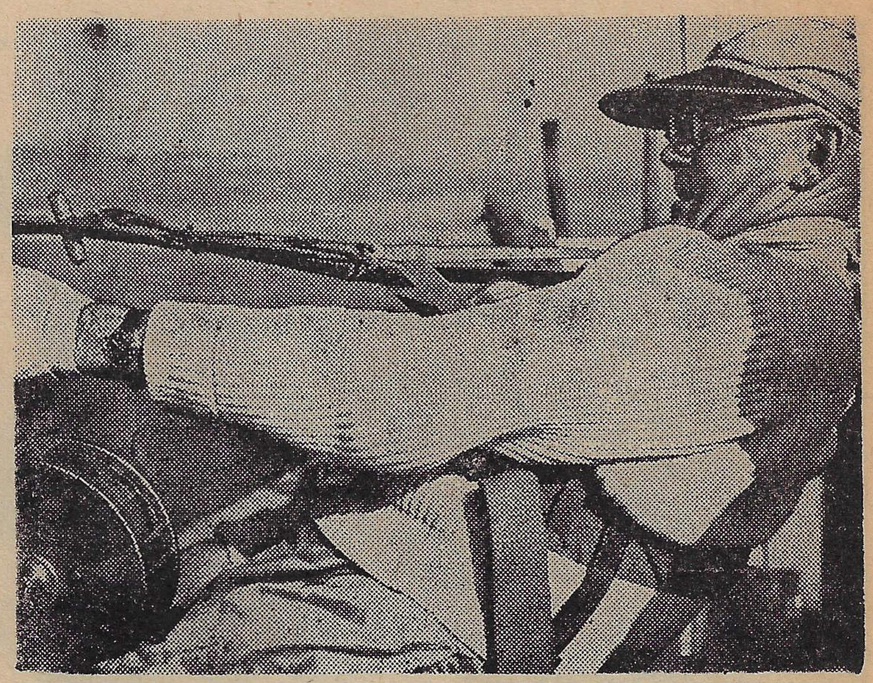

The RCAF station Goose Bay, isolated air base on the Labrador coast was the scene of an impressive full-dress ceremony as Group Captain L. J. Birchall, O.B.E., D.F.C., of St. Catharines, famous wartime "Saviour of Ceylon" took over as commanding officer from Group Capt. J, A. Verner of Vancouver, who moves to Air Force Headquarters as a staff officer in the technical services branch. Here Group Capt. Verner signs the document that officially hands the station over to Group Capt. Birchall (left) while the station adjutant, Flt. Lieut. J. E. Goldsmith, D.F.C., A.F.C,, of Ottawa and Halifax, looks on.

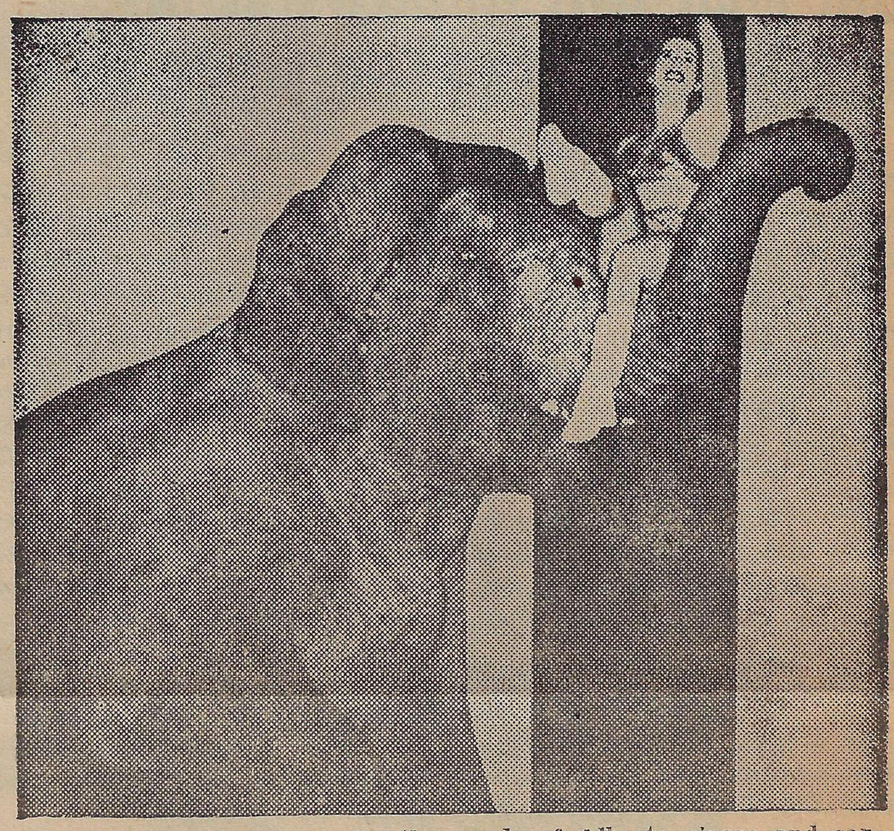

BANNERS tell union story of the 9-day national railway strike, which came to an end Wednesday night, Aug. 30. It was the only general rail strike in history, and 124,000 non-operating railmen were involved in it. The government pushed through a bill forcing the railmen back to work, and if the unions and railways do not come to terms in 30 days, compulsory arbitration will prevail.

Takes Part in Tuna Match

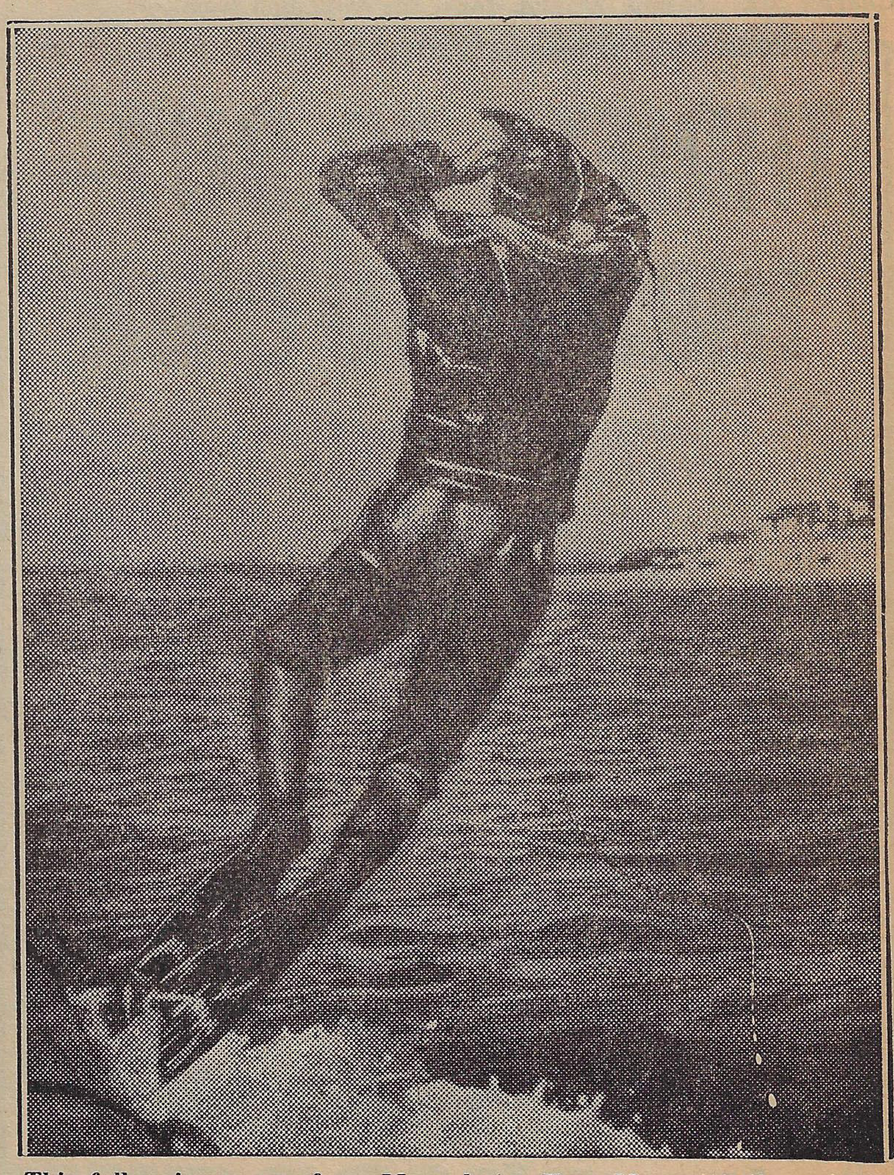

To deep-sea anglers, a square mile of ocean at Wedgeport, N.S., is the best fishing hole in the world and on Sept, 13-16 they will gather from many countries to prove that statement in the form of a fishing contest. Maj. Cyril Frisby, V.C., above, is captain of the British team competing in the International Tuna Cup matches at Wedgeport.

Now Just a Memory

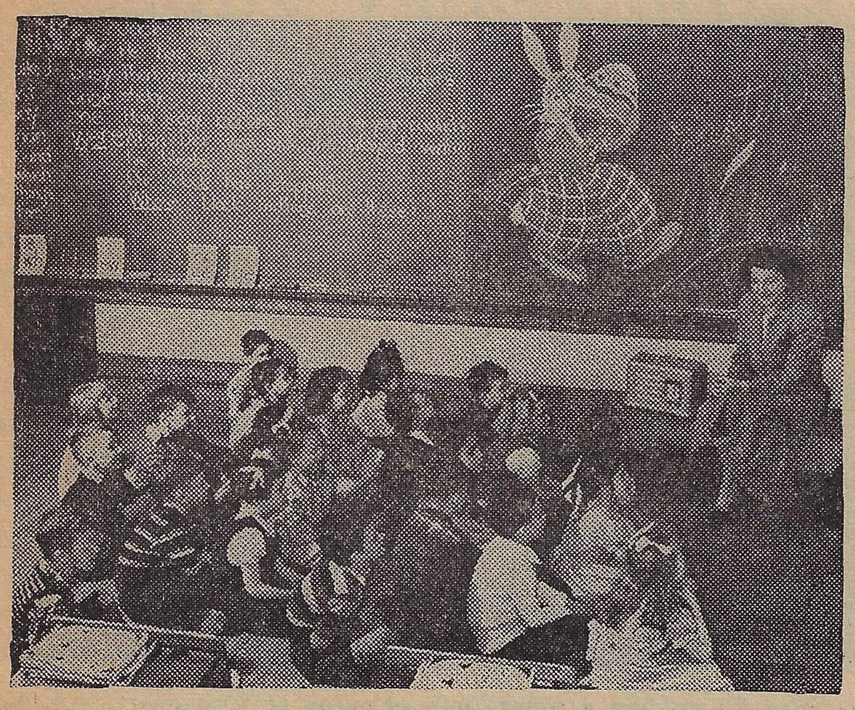

It was a happy summer for thousands of Alberta circus and carnival fans, as a record number of performances were played here to record crowds. But with fall coming on, such things are now just a memory. Seen here is the elephant Judy, one of the most highly trained in the world, with a pretty circus girl. Performance was snapped during a July presentation in Edmonton.

Frog Man Takes a Leap

This fellow is no man from Mars, but a Frog Man with the British Navy, equipped for under-sea operations. They derive their name from the frog-like feet which enables them to swim with ease under water. Frog Men perform difficult diving operations, and in time of war, have been known to plant explosives on enemy naval vessels.

Kindergarten of the Air

Popular program over CBC's Trans-Canada Network these days is Kindergarten of the Air, designed for pre-school children. A kindergarten class is seen here listening to a broadcast. A.M.A. GROUP STILL GROWING

Membership in the Alberta Motor Association now has hit a record total of 52,000, which is a 29 per cent gain over a year ago, according to Walker Blake, general manager of the Edmonton branch.

The AMA is affiliated with the American Automobile Association which now has reached a total of more than 3,000,000 members. At July 31, the AAA had a total of 3,005,607, which was a 10 per cent increase during the year.

The AAA attained its objective two months ahead of the target date, Oct. 31. This was set by the new president, Lou E. Holland, of Kansas City, Mo., in accepting the presidency at the annual convention in Cleveland last November.

Founded in 1902, the AAA has more than 725 affiliated clubs and divisions on this continent, said Mr. Blake.

Will Seek Changes In Bowling Alley Age Act

Changes will be sought in the Billiard Rooms and Bowling Alleys Act, which technically makes it illegal for any person under 18 to bowl unless accompanied by parent or guardian.

Bowling alley proprietors, it is reported, feel that this rule, which applies to pool halls and bowling alleys alike, should not be applicable to the latter.

Under the law, both proprietors and employees can be charged for violations of the act.

However, like so many other acts, it is not enforced.

Law also states that a person between 16 and 18 can be employed for the sole purpose of setting up pins if the proprietor has the written consent of parent or guardian, and if the employee does not work after 9 p.m.

FIRST RAILWAY

Canada's first transcontinental railway was completed in 1885.

ONE MAN SENT TO HOSPITAL IN ROAD CRASH NEAR EGREMONT

EGREMONT. — An accident one mile east of Egremont involving a car and a democrat sent one man to the Radway hospital badly injured, demolished the democrat and the front of the car.

The driver Mr. Archie Young of Egremont smashed into the rear of the democrat and sent Mr. N. Solonar to the hospital. One horse had to be shot.

The Egremont Community and Sports club meeting was held on Wednesday, September 6 at the Egremont community hall. Only a few members attended and it was decided to improve the stage.

Mr. Gordon Purschke of Egremont was removed to Edmonton from the Radway hospital for further diagnosis and treatment of his illness.

A Ladies Auxiliary meeting was held September 7 at the Egremont community hall. Twelve members attended and decided to get berets for the group. Minor details were ironed out and the Charter was passed around for observation. More equipment is needed and will be bought by the Ladies Auxiliary to continue making lunches on Friday nights. The meeting ended with members serving lunch and being a very cold night trying to keep warm.

The Canadian Legion members have received their berets to wear at all functions sponsored by the Canadian Legion.

It's back to school for a lot of youngsters here at Egremont. The teachers are Mr. Byduza, principal; Mrs. Byduza; Mrs. Mary Pushalak; Mr. Bill Krachy and Miss Anne Wasylynka.

POPULATION

Canada's population increased most rapidly at the time of the American Revolution, the Irish famine, the building of the Canadian railways and the opening of the Canadian west.

Teaching Staff Now Complete At Warspite

WASKATENAU. — September first was a day of happy faces as the youngsters flocked through the doors of the five classrooms in the Warspite school. Some were there to see their new teachers and friends for the first time while others to get their courses outlined for the coming year.

Happiest of all were the youngsters who entered the doors of knowledge for the first time to find out what school really was.

The teaching staff, as it is at the present time, is Mr. P. S. Kozdrowski, principal; Mr. J. E. Shubert, assistant High School (new); Mr, S. Z Klem, Junior High; Mrs Robert Tronnis, elementary (new); and Mrs M Clarke, Primary.

Mr. S. Starchuk, who is to van the students west of Warspite to Warspite, has not arrived from the east with his bus, so it is hoped that he will do so during the week-end so that students from Riverland, Brighton, and Mission Hill will not suffer any due to loss of days. It is also hoped that the students of these schools will make good use of this bus rather than pay their own tuition fees at Waskatenau.

Mr. and Mrs. P .S. Kozdrowski arrived from Banff where Mr. Kozdrowski attended the ATA Banff Workshop for a week, representing the Smoky Lake School Division ATA local.

Harvesting is progressing smoothly in this area, although the yields are going to be very low, the farmers are not too downhearted. They are happy that, at least, there is something to harvest.

Mr. and Mrs, Bruce Olsen have come back after their two weeks' holiday which they spent travelling about in their new Pontiac.
